SOMMAIRE

Prologue ................................................................................................................................. 1
Cristina Gortázar

Book contents ........................................................................................................................ 7
María Carolina Parra-Cartagena

Introductory part

From the society of contempt to the defilement of the rule of law – On European immigration policies ........................................... 17
Javier de Lucas

Europe: a place to seek, to be granted, and to enjoy asylum? ........ 33
Guy S. Goodwin-Gill

Sizing it up: labor migration lessons of the EU enlargement to 27 ........................................ 45
Amelie F. Constant

Harvest of loneliness? Braceros in the American past, the politics of the present and lessons for the future ......................... 75
Rubén G. Rumbaut

PART ONE

Right to asylum

The multifaceted role of law in the development of European asylum and migration policy ......................................................... 89
Dirk Vanheule

The external dimension of the Common European asylum system after Stockholm
In need of a comprehensive approach to access international protection in the EU ........................................................................ 99
Violeta Moreno-Lax
VI European migration and asylum policies

Court of Justice’s judgment on the exclusion clauses; hope for ex-KhAD/WAD members in the Netherlands? ................... 109
Zarif Bahtiyar

Asylum policy in new Member States after the Schengen expansion: integration vs disappearance ....................................................... 119
Irina Molodikova

Asylum in Europe from a gender angle: an evaluation of the gender sensitivity of European and Belgian asylum policies ...................................................................................................................... 129
Rilke Mahieu, Christiane Timmerman and Dirk Vanheule

Remembering the forgotten: legal status of stateless persons under international law and EU law .................................................. 139
Tamás Molnár

Protection against torture in Europe: are there exceptions? ........ 153
Irene Claro Quintáns

PART TWO
Irregular migration and border controls

Encouraging legal migration and preventing irregular migration: coherence or contradiction? ............................................. 165
Katharina Eisele and Natasja Reslow

Shifting the burden: the privatisation of migration control in the EU ............................................................................................. 175
Anja Wiesbrock

Human trafficking and protection for its victims under European law .......................................................................................... 185
Valeria Ilareva

Understanding the failures of domestic efforts against human trafficking: the Spanish case ................................................... 195
María José Castaño Reyero
Sommaire

The political design of migration control in Southern Europe.... 205
Ana María López-Sala

The average detainee in the Slovenian detention centre .......... 215
Robin Schweiger

PART THREE
Legal migration and integration

European immigration and the path towards federalism:
a new model for the new EU as an Area of Freedom,
Security and Justice? .............................................................. 227
Sara Iglesias Sánchez

Population trends, human capital development and the role of migrant workers in an ageing Europe ............ 237
Alessio Cangiano

The impact of European migration policies on migration-related legislative activity in Maghreb countries:
an overview of recent reforms ................................................. 247
Delphine Perrin

Assisted return and reintegration: complex national policy domains or laggard responses in EU migration policy? .......... 257
Jan Schneider

PART FOUR
Development aid and co-development

The migration-development nexus: is the migration policy of the European Union coherent with its development policy? ................................................................................. 273
Carola Vogel

Europe’s mobility partnerships with migrant-sending countries in the global South: a view from Cape Verde ......................... 283
Frederico Brandão and Annelies Zoomers
VIII European migration and asylum policies

Development and labour migration in Central and Eastern Europe: Comparative study of the Czech Republic and Slovakia .......................................................... 293
Lucia Kureková

Labour migration after the EU enlargement – An evaluation of the Belgian policies .......................................................... 303
Patrick Loobuyck